

THE COLLINS UBUNTU FRAMEWORK

David Collins · Originator · Est. South Africa

"This framework was not built for a grant cycle.
It was built in the field, documented on-chain, protected by trademark, and deployed across five countries — before the sector caught up."

Framework Development — South Africa

The Ubuntu coaching framework — encompassing the 4Q Model, Continuum, The System, Facilitator's Contract, and original archetypes — was developed by David Collins through lived practice in addiction recovery and community development in South Africa. Drawing on Ubuntu philosophy, the framework applies principles of collective humanity to adult learning, lived experience recovery, and organisational transformation.

On-Chain Timestamping

Twenty framework components were minted as NFTs on the Ethereum blockchain via OpenSea under the U-ACT profile (wallet: 0xc020ced1e33e205c86bd2fbd7cabf459a79128c) — creating immutable, publicly verifiable timestamps eight months prior to the trademark application. This constitutes prior art documentation on a decentralised, unalterable public ledger.
